ARMY-NAVY GAME

STILL UP IN AIR

Another hitch in the arrangements for the place where the annual Army-Navy football game will be played was brought about yesterday when Secretaries Dantels and Garrison, heads of the two big departments, got together for a centab.

The Annapolis officials want the game staged in Philadelphia this fall. The army is willing, but insists upon a ten-year agree ment between the schools. Navy is willing to listen to such an agreement, but not until after the game is played this season. The army can't see it this way, and thus far no agreement has been reached.

Uncle Sam's antiors and soldiers got together soon and settled the matter, that football relations would be called off and that there would be no football game this
